There are three main criteria for the appointment of independent marriage celebrants:

1. The applicant will conscientiously perform the duties of a marriage celebrant under Marriage Act 1955 and the Births, Deaths, Marriages, and Relationships Registration Act 1995; and
2. It is in the interests of the public generally, or of a particular community (whether defined by geography, interest, belief, or some other factor) that the person be a marriage celebrant; and
3. The applicant is a Justice of the Peace or other person of good character.

3. Need for appointment - Why it is in the interests of a particular community and/or the public in general that you should be appointed as a marriage celebrant

3a) Describe why it is in the interests of a particular community that you be appointed as a marriage celebrant:

Important

You may identify one or more particular communities (whether defined by geography, interest, belief, or some other factor).

You must provide written evidence from at least two people within the community itself that shows a want or a need for your appointment as a marriage celebrant. The written evidence must clearly state support for your appointment and the reasons why and how your appointment is in the interests of a particular community. The following two pages are provided for that purpose - please print more pages as required.

If a community you identify is based on your ability to speak a language other than English, you must include written evidence from others supporting your ability to solemnise a marriage in that language.

Community name

Description of community

Describe why you believe it is in the interests of this community for you to be appointed as a marriage celebrant

If more than one community continue on a separate sheet

Written evidence from Person 1, who is a part of the community identified

3. Need for appointment - continued...

If you wish to apply under the criteria that it is in the interests of the New Zealand public in general, that you are appointed as a marriage celebrant answer 3b).

3b) Specifically identify the reasons why it is in the interests of the New Zealand public in general that you be appointed as a marriage celebrant:

Continue on a separate sheet, if necessary

4. Conflict of interest

This section must be completed by all applicants.

A conflict of interest can arise where two different interests overlap - where your duties or responsibilities as a marriage celebrant could be affected by some other interest or duty that you may have. 'Some other interest' may exist because of:

- a role or relationship that you have; or
- your financial affairs; or
- something you have said or done.

An example of a conflict of interest is where, for instance, you are applying to be marriage celebrant when you are already a Registrar of Marriages who interviews prospective celebrants. The conflict of interest is that there may be a perception that you may not be impartial with your report back to the Registrar-General.

All conflicts of interest whether real or perceived must be considered to ensure there is continued public trust and confidence in the role of the marriage celebrant.

All conflicts of interest should be disclosed for the benefit of transparency and impartiality, no matter how minor you think they may be. You are recommended to state how the risk of any conflict of interest may be mitigated or avoided.

If you have any questions about conflicts of interest please contact Births, Deaths and Marriages or for guidance refer to:

- Managing conflicts of interest: Guidance for public entities <http://www.oag.govt.nz/2007/conflicts-public-entities>
- Code of conduct for the State Services <http://www.ssc.govt.nz/display/document.asp?NavID=311>

ANSWER BOTH 4a) AND 4b)

4a) I am currently, or have been an employee within the last 2 years, of (tick as many boxes as necessary):

- Department of Internal Affairs
- Ministry of Justice
- Local Authority that issues marriage and civil union licences
- None of the above

4b) There is a conflict or perceived conflict of interest because of some other interest or duty that I have:

- No conflict of interest exists
- Yes one or more conflicts of interest exist – Explain below and also how the conflict may be lessened or avoided:

Continue on a separate sheet, if necessary

5. Good character requirement

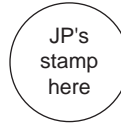

5a) Do you have any criminal convictions?
